ANTI-RACISM

Prejudice is a burden that confuses the past, threatens the future, and renders the present inaccessible
Maya Angelou

After the death of George Floyd, we put together a bespoke 10-session program on Unconscious Bias & Anti-Racism. Three presenters with particular and extensive expertise delivered the sessions and the feedback has been very positive. We have always been keen to support schools in avoiding a one-off training session in this area, knowing that it is long, hard work to achieve a culture which is free of racism and avoids bias affecting any student negatively. We are thrilled to be collaborating with a range of providers to bring a variety of programs to schools. We are committed to iterating this menu according to the needs of schools. We look forward to all schools engaging at whatever level with this vital area of development.

Education and work are the levers to uplift a people

EARLY YEARS

'High quality settings prioritised on-going CPD to develop professional practice; to keep up-to-date with new research on effective practice; to build networks and share good practice and to support staff retention' Study of Early Education and Development: Good Practice in Early Education Research report, January 2017

We are delighted to be able to offer our first Early Years Professional Learning package and provide a wide range of high-quality training opportunities designed to support early years professionals to reflect on pedagogy and practice and improve outcomes for children. The programme has incorporated, as far as possible, the training needs identified by our early years colleagues in schools as well as from local knowledge and is being delivered by a range of trainers with a breadth of knowledge and expertise in their field.

The wider the range of possibilities we offer children, the more intense will be their motivations and the richer their experiences

Health is a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being, and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity
World Health Organization

We have all seen the status of wellbeing and good mental health rise throughout the year of the global pandemic. We are excited to be working with a range of providers to bring you our first Educator Wellbeing menu of professional learning. Over the past year, we have established a strong collaboration with the Educational Psychology Service who provide three of the programs. We have also commissioned a fantastic voice coach for voice workshops for both senior leaders and those working in the classroom. Lastly, we wanted to provide affordable and accessible yoga. We are working with an independent yoga studio provide these on a Friday afternoon

I was looking outside of myself to find strength and confidence, but these come from within. They have always been there.

Paul Brightly Jones Lucy Nutt Steve Barker

Sujal Zaveri

Our professional learning menu for governors aims to support both chairs and whole governing bodies in the important roles that are held within school communities. In order to ensure a sustainable model of school improvement and pupil learning, governors need to pursue their own learning. This will enable governors to collaborate in an individual and collective fashion by being open, inclusive and respectful of all stakeholders, ultimately impacting through governance, on the success of schools and the children and young people they serve, inclusive and respectful of all stakeholders.

Be the change you want to see in the world

LEADERSHIP

Strong institutions have many leaders at all levels
Michael Fullan

Our aim with Leadership professional learning is to provide a range of high-quality options. We believe, as Fullan states, that leaders are at all levels, though for the ease of navigation, our sessions and programs for different members of the school community sit under different menus, e.g. Teaching Assistants and Support Staff.

Effective leadership means guiding people through the differences and, indeed, enabling differences to surface
Michael Fullan

Along with the NPQs, which will be delivered through a collaboration with the new Teaching School Hub, we have sought new providers delivering innovative programs such as Race, Identity and Leadership (Enfield is part of the new Hub along with Brent and Barnet). We are also very pleased to be working with a member of SLT from Attigo Trust school who will share their expertise. Enjoy looking!

PASTORAL & STUDENT WELLBEING

They may forget what you said but they will never forget how you made them feel
Carol Buchner

We have consciously avoided a menu titled 'Behaviour' or 'Behaviour Management'. We have formed a strong collaboration with Mark Finnis who heads up Relational Systems as a leading national provider of Restorative Practice. This aligns to the Education Department strategy of bringing Trauma Informed Practice to Enfield schools in a more consolidated way than before. We will work with schools on what else would support the relationships first approach. We are already working with the Education Endowment Foundation (EEF) on two programs. Particularly their first recommendation from their Improving Behaviour report is that: Every pupil should have a supportive relationship with a member of school staff.

One looks back with appreciation to the brilliant teachers, but with gratitude to those who touched our human feelings. The curriculum is so much necessary raw material, but warmth is the vital element for the growing plant and for the soul of the child

SAFEGUARDING

It is easier to build strong children than to repair broken adults
Frederick Douglass

Katrina Curtis Nicole Williamson Leo Latter Heather McDaid

L. Powell Alan Mackenzie Traci Good

We have given safeguarding its own menu as a demonstration of its importance. For the first time we are also offering professional learning under the three subcategories of compliance, curriculum and culture. Our key partner for compliance is Education Child Protection (ECP). We have commissioned a greater number of the basic programs with more regularity; aiming to reduce the costly arrangements that individual schools have been making until now. Under curriculum, we have an online safety consultant who will provide termly updates drawing on latest trends, research & resources to support schools. For child protection, DSL and online safety we have commissioned specific sessions for special schools or mainstream settings that are interested in the different needs of children and young people with SEND or vulnerabilities. Under the category of Culture, we have another first - we are working with Leo Powell who has expertise on County Lines and the issues this brings for young people. The two-session program he is delivering will look at developing understanding along with what schools can do to support the community.

Children are the world's most valuable resource and its best hope for the future.

SEND & INCLUSION

If a child can't learn the way we teach, maybe we should teach the way that they learn
Ignacio Estrada

The SEND/Inclusion Professional Learning Programme is developed by Enfield schools' trusted partners in the Local Authority. Training courses cover a broad range of special educational needs and disabilities that classroom practitioners will encounter. All programmes are led by outstanding providers from within Enfield or other nationally endorsed experts within their SEND/Inclusion specialism. The comprehensive programme is devised with local knowledge and aims to support school staff in responding to the challenges that practitioners face in their day to day work. School staff attending training will learn how to make their practice more inclusive, have higher expectations for their pupils with SEND and be better equipped to accelerate pupils' progress academically, socially and with their life skills.

TEACHING ASSISTANTS & SUPPORT STAFF

Every child deserves a champion: An adult who will never give up on them, who understands the power of connection and insists they become the best they can possibly be

Rita Pierson - Educator

Our professional learning programme enables teaching assistants and other support staff to become more reflective, confident and creative through gaining a deeper understanding of classroom pedagogy. It will help develop the attributes to make a significant impact on relationships with both pupils and colleagues.

Designed to drive up standards within schools, our highly effective and innovative professional development training programme covers all aspects of school life from First Aid Training to Higher Level Teaching Assistant Training.

TEACHING, LEARNING & INNOVATION

Intelligence plus character-that is the goal of true education
Martin Luther King Jr.

We are committed to seeking high quality provision for all curriculum subjects. This year we are delighted to launch two extensive programs for primary; one for curriculum subject leaders, and one for classroom teachers, again covering the breadth of the primary curriculum. In addition, we have worked with several Enfield schools to share their experience of effective teaching and learning in particular subjects. For secondary curriculum areas, we are trialling a variety of programs for English as one of the core subjects, and welcome feedback from colleagues on what our offer for other curriculum areas at secondary could look like.

Although we view all our offer as innovative, we wanted a section of the menu which enabled the expertise of providers like the Learning Scientists to be showcased.

Enjoy discovering our new offer!

The principal goal of education in the schools should be creating men and women who are capable of doing new things, not simply repeating what other generations have done

Jean Piaget
