

Emotional Literacy Support Assistants in Enfield Schools

Join the growing network of Enfield schools who are skilling up their TAs/LSAs as Emotional Literacy Support Assistants (ELSAs). Once they have completed the six day training course, ELSAs plan, deliver and evaluate individual and group interventions for pupils with SEMH needs. They receive half termly supervision from the EPS, and attend a termly ELSAs in Enfield network meeting.

"The training is allowing us to approach our young people's needs with a multitude of different techniques. I can honestly say that this is the only training that I have looked forward to as much as I have!"

An Enfield ELSA's feedback about the training course

"Children who've had ELSA are more able to notice different feelings and behaviours- they have more understanding and are more able to ask for help."

The Educational Psychology Service will be training the next cohort of ELSAs in the Autumn term. There are 32 funded ELSA training places available for the 22-23 academic year. To find out more, see the brochure, or join the EPS for an information session:
